Book Concept: 7th Grade Texas History: A Maverick's Journey

Logline: A reluctant 7th grader unravels the hidden stories of Texas history, uncovering surprising connections to the present and forging a deeper understanding of their state and themselves.

Storyline/Structure:

The book will follow 12-year-old Mia, a bright but cynical student who dreads her Texas history class. Instead of dry dates and names, the book weaves the historical narrative into Mia's own life through a series of interconnected chapters. Each chapter focuses on a key period in Texas history (e.g., Spanish colonization, the Texas Revolution, the Civil War, the oil boom), presented through a specific historical figure whose story somehow mirrors or challenges Mia's own experiences. For example, a chapter on the Alamo might highlight a young woman defending her home, paralleling Mia's own struggles with bullies. The chapters alternate between historical accounts, presented in an engaging, narrative style, and chapters focusing on Mia's life and her evolving understanding of Texas history. The climax involves a historical project where Mia must connect a past event to a contemporary issue facing Texas, culminating in a newfound appreciation for her state's complex past and her own place in it.
